Boating Infrastructure Grant (BIG) Program

Established with the Sportfishing and Boating Safety Act of 1998 (Public Law 105-178), implemented nationally by USFWS

Funded through the Sport Fish Restoration and Boating Trust Fund which is derived from excise taxes on fishing equipment, motorboat and small engine fuels, import duties, and interest on the fund.

Scott Meister USFWS SE Regional BIG Coordinator

Construct, Renovate, and Maintain Boating Infrastructure

Benefit Transient Recreational Boaters

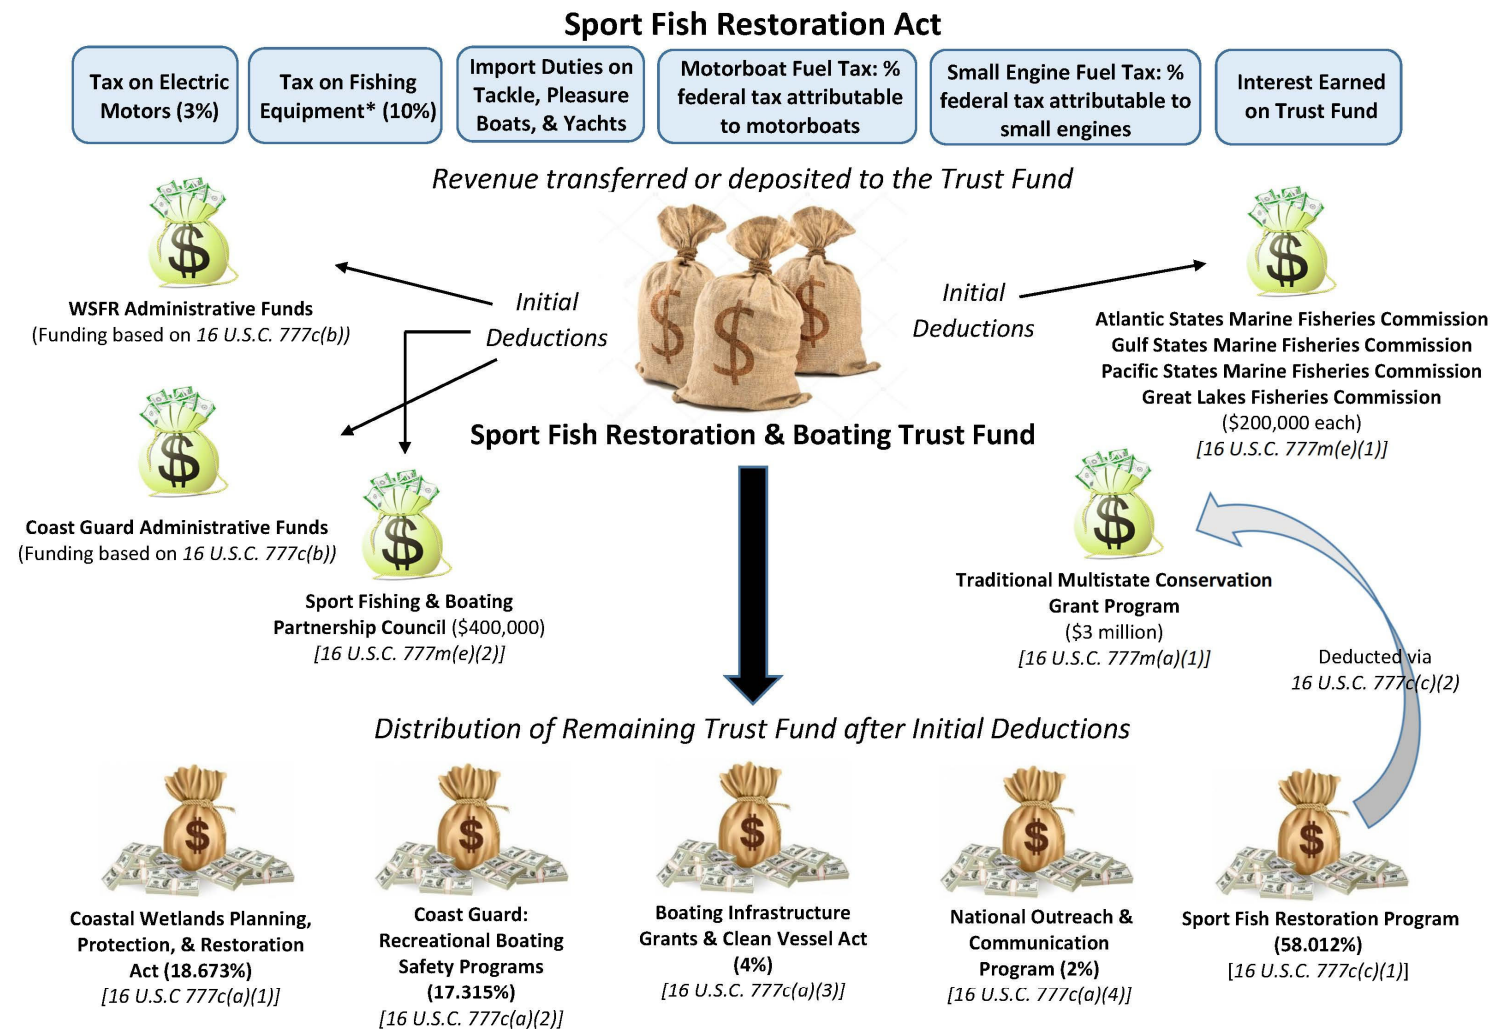

Transient: 15-day visit or less at a BIG facility

Recreational: “operated primarily for pleasure; or leased, rented, or chartered to another person for the latter’s pleasure”-defined by USFWS

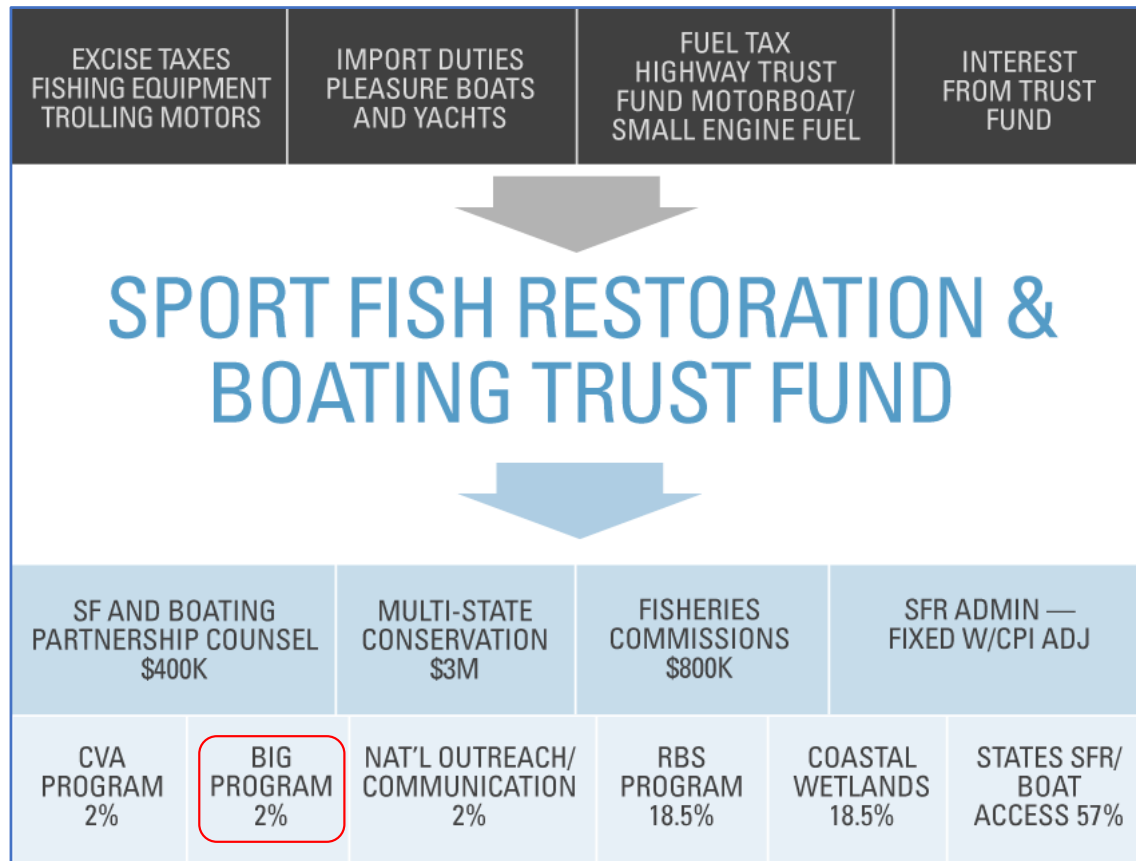

Larger vessels: Over 26', generally non-trailerable

***Federal Tax Dollars benefitting the public

* Tax on fishing tackle boxes is 3% (IRS No. 42). Tax on fishing rods/poles is 10%, with a maximum tax of $10 per article (IRS No. 110). Tax on fishing lines does not apply to lines over 130lbs test (IRS No. 41).

WSFR Mission: Working through partnerships to conserve and manage fish and wildlife and their habitats for the use and enjoyment of current and future generations.

TRUST FUND REVENUE SOURCES

SPORT FISH
RESTORATION

Demonstrated need for BIG

>600,000 non-trailerable, recreational boats in the US.

Number of transient vessels exceed the capacity of existing facilities.

Users are expecting more amenities and scaled up utilities- increased shore power, WIFI, security, shore-side facilities

Vessels of this size require access to sanitary services and therefore need docking facilities to access pumpout stations

  - SCDNR is a commenting agency.
  - Check DHEC OCRM and USACE regulations prior to submitting your project.

Docks and piers should not impede navigation.

Minimize Direct Impacts to Shellfish

- Projects should be designed and constructed to minimize disturbance to shellfish resources
- May require the relocation and/or redesign of docks, pilings within an existing oyster reef.

Avoid Indirect Impacts to Shellfish

- Docks should be located to minimize interference with shellfish management operations or other mariculture activities.
- Cannot impair water quality limiting public use of shellfish in the area.
- R.30-12 E.(1)(c) New marinas...are not allowed in waters classified for shellfish harvesting... or expanded existing marina that does not close any additional waters for shellfish harvesting.

<https://scdnr.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=cbef2c2aof9449fa87dd25c7117ad865>

Avoid dredging of intertidal areas

- Marinas should be located in areas where maximum physical advantages exist and which do not require the dredging and filling of productive intertidal and shallow subtidal areas.
- Slips should only be located in areas with adequate water depths that will not require future dredging to maintain access.

The most common salt marsh plant species in the Southeast provides us with a wealth of benefits!

SMOOTH CORDGRASS Spartina alterniflora

A salt marsh is a coastal wetland that serves as the transition zone between land and salt water. The dominant salt marsh plant in southeastern estuaries is Spartina alterniflora. This amazing plant can tolerate being covered by salt water twice a day.

Habitat

- Salt marsh is the second-most productive ecosystem on the planet. Its productivity is fueled by the recycling of nutrients, largely from Spartina alterniflora. The plant dies in the fall, forms wrack, and breaks down (decomposes) to release its nutrients back into the system.
- Over 75% of the commercially important species in the Southeast use the salt marsh during their life cycle.
- A number of animals such as shrimp, crabs, fish, and birds use the marsh as nursery habitat, feeding grounds, and resting areas.

Erosion control

- Spartina rhizomes (underground stems) and root mats stabilize the marsh mud, protecting against erosion.
- Spartina stalks break up wave energy before it reaches the land, lessening the impacts of storms.
- Spartina stalks also trap sediment which helps protect against sea level rise.

Clean water

- Salt marshes filter pollutants from the water column that enter our estuaries from non-point sources such as houses and roads.
- Spartina helps remove pollutants from the water, such as pesticides, heavy metals, and nutrients.
- Marsh sediment can act as a sponge, burying and absorbing pollutants, thus minimizing the toxic effects.

Salt marsh distribution

Spartina alterniflora is found throughout the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico coasts. It is a dominant coastal habitat with about 1,000,000 acres in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

Requirements Continued

- Infrastructure must be used for recreational transient boaters for its “useful life”~Typically 20 years for infrastructure
- Adhere to Scope of Work and BIG requirements even if marina is sold
- Subrecipient Agreement between SCDNR & marina facility
- “This Notice of Grant Agreement shall be incorporated by reference into any subsequent deed or other legal instrument by which the Subrecipient divests itself of any interest in all or a portion of the Property”

- Must be reasonable

- Explain how they were collocated using a broadly accepted estimating method.

Program Income-gross income earned...that is directly generated by a grant-supported activity, or earned as a result of the grant, during the period of performance.

- Try to fully complete project prior to opening new infrastructure for business.

SOUTH CAROLINA VESSEL TURN-IN PROGRAM

Abandoned and derelict vessels (ADV) pose a chronic problem in our coastal environment. They harm coastal waters and marsh habitat, detract from the safe recreational use of our waterways, and create an eyesore on the landscape. DHEC's Office of Ocean and Coastal Resource Management (OCRM) has worked with federal, state, and local partners on abandoned vessel removal projects across the South Carolina coast. Vessel removals are often costly, and despite such efforts, ADVs continue to be a problem in coastal South Carolina.

DHEC OCRM is piloting a new Vessel Turn-In Program (VTIP) as a preventative solution to ADV. Boat owners will have the opportunity to voluntarily surrender and dispose of unwanted, at-risk, or end-of-life vessels before they become abandoned. The costs for disassembling, recycling, and disposing of eligible VTIP vessels are fully covered within this pilot program.

FIBERGLASS VESSEL HULL RECYCLING PROGRAM

In conjunction with the VTIP, DHEC OCRM is piloting a fiberglass vessel hull recycling program as an alternative, sustainable disposal option for boat hulls, instead of sending them to landfills. These pilot programs aim to gather valuable insights for developing long-term prevention programs against ADV in the future.
