

South Carolina's Thirty-Sixth Anniversary Edition Waterfowl Stamp

“Mottled Ducks”

Richard Clifton • 2016-17 Commissioned Artist

The 2016-17 South Carolina Migratory Waterfowl Print features commissioned artist Richard Clifton's original painting of a male and female mottled duck. Mr. Clifton lives in Milford, Delaware, and has painted forty-four duck stamps from various states. He also painted the 1996 Australian Duck Stamp and the 2007-2008 federal Duck Stamp. His work has been displayed in many of the top wildlife art shows throughout the country, including the Southeastern Wildlife Exposition.

Funds derived from the sale of stamps, art prints and related artwork are used as specified in state law. Fifty percent of the total revenue from stamp and print sales is transferred to the SCDNR for use in its specified projects. The remainder of funds derived from the sale of prints is disbursed to a nonprofit organization for the development of waterfowl propagation projects within Canada. The funded projects must specifically provide waterfowl for the Atlantic Flyway and must also be able to demonstrate evidence that they are acceptable to the appropriate governmental agencies having jurisdiction over the project areas.

“Mottled Ducks”

Richard Clifton • 2016-17 Commissioned Artist

Richard Clifton was born in Delaware in 1961. He lives on a historic family farm adjoining the Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge, where he is surrounded by inspiration for his art. He is a self-taught wildlife artist who has chosen acrylics as his medium.

Waterfowl being one of his favorite subjects, he has painted forty-four duck stamps from various states and countries, including the 1996 Australian Duck Stamp and the 2007-2008 U.S. federal Duck Stamp.

Clifton’s work has been displayed in many of the top wildlife art shows throughout the country, including the Southeastern Wildlife Exposition, and the Easton Waterfowl Festival, as well as appearing on magazine covers, a beer stein for Coors brewing company, shotguns for Ducks Unlimited, and on other art-related products. His work has been chosen several times for the Ducks Unlimited National Art Package and for National Rifle Association projects as well. He has been named artist of the year for various conservation groups, and his art continues to raise money for these agencies. He is a casual birder and an avid hunter of waterfowl, deer and upland game and uses his experiences in the field as inspiration for his work.

Prints are available from Arcadia Publications of Columbia.
