

Shorebirds: From Charleston to Churchill

A photograph showing a large flock of shorebirds, likely Sanderlings, standing on a sandy beach. They have long legs and bills, and their plumage is a mix of brown and white. The background is a blurred blue sky and water.

Janet Thibault
Wildlife Biologist

*Wildlife & Freshwater Fisheries Division
Statewide Projects*

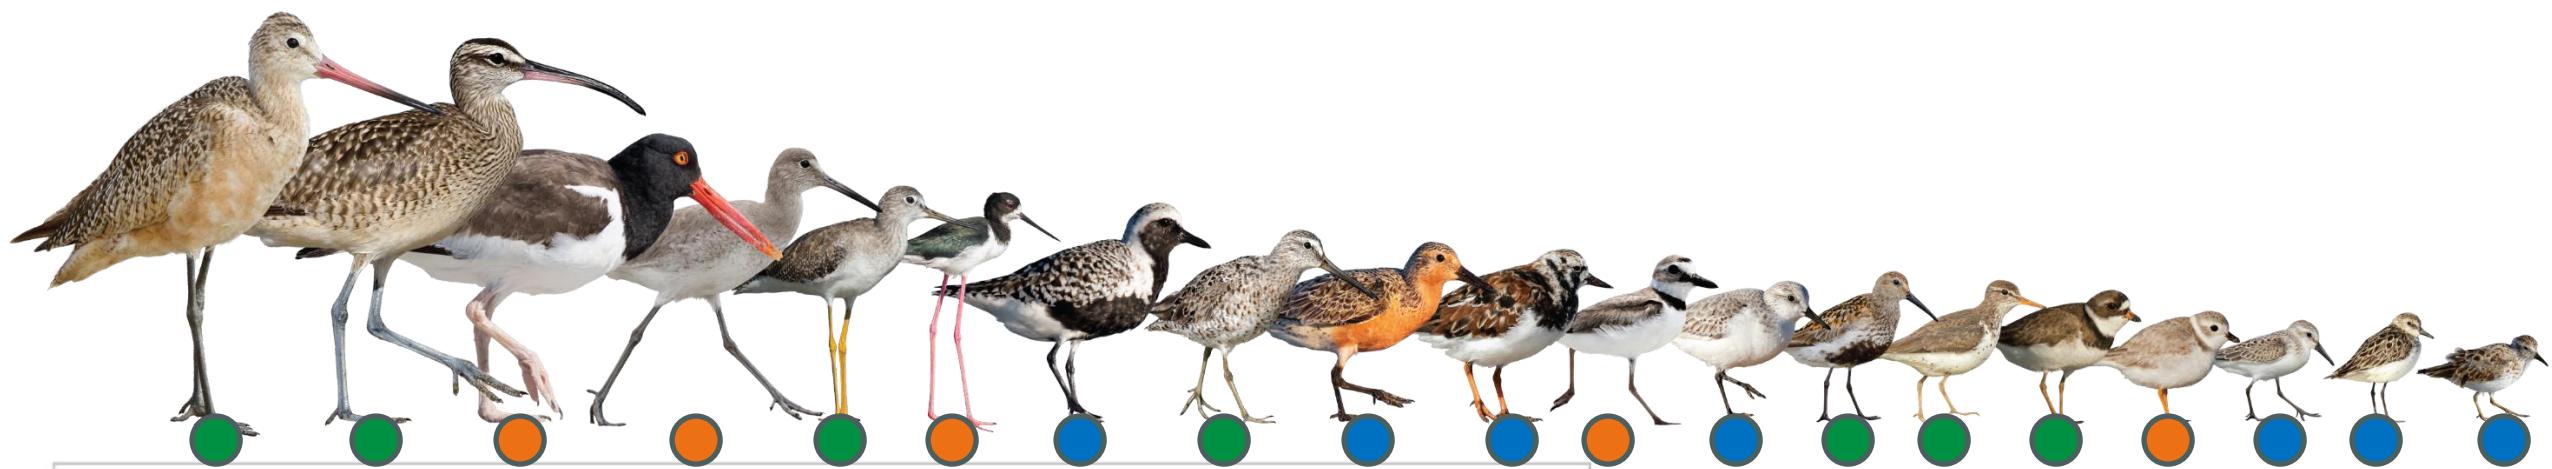

What We Do

Protect Habitat

Survey & Monitor

Research Projects

Outreach

Canada

Arctic 47%

Boreal 24%

Temperate 29%

Figure Credit: Kaitlyn Hackathorn, SCDNR

Discovery at Deveaux Bank

SUNDAY MORNING

Individual
EK6	EJ7
AUU	EJ8
EJ2	EK8
EJ6	EK9
EK3	EKO
EK4	EM1
EK5	EM4
EK7	EM3
EJ1	EM5
EJ0	EK2
EJ9	EK1
EJ3

Fidelity to specific diurnal foraging territories

Fidelity to the Deveaux Bank nocturnal roost

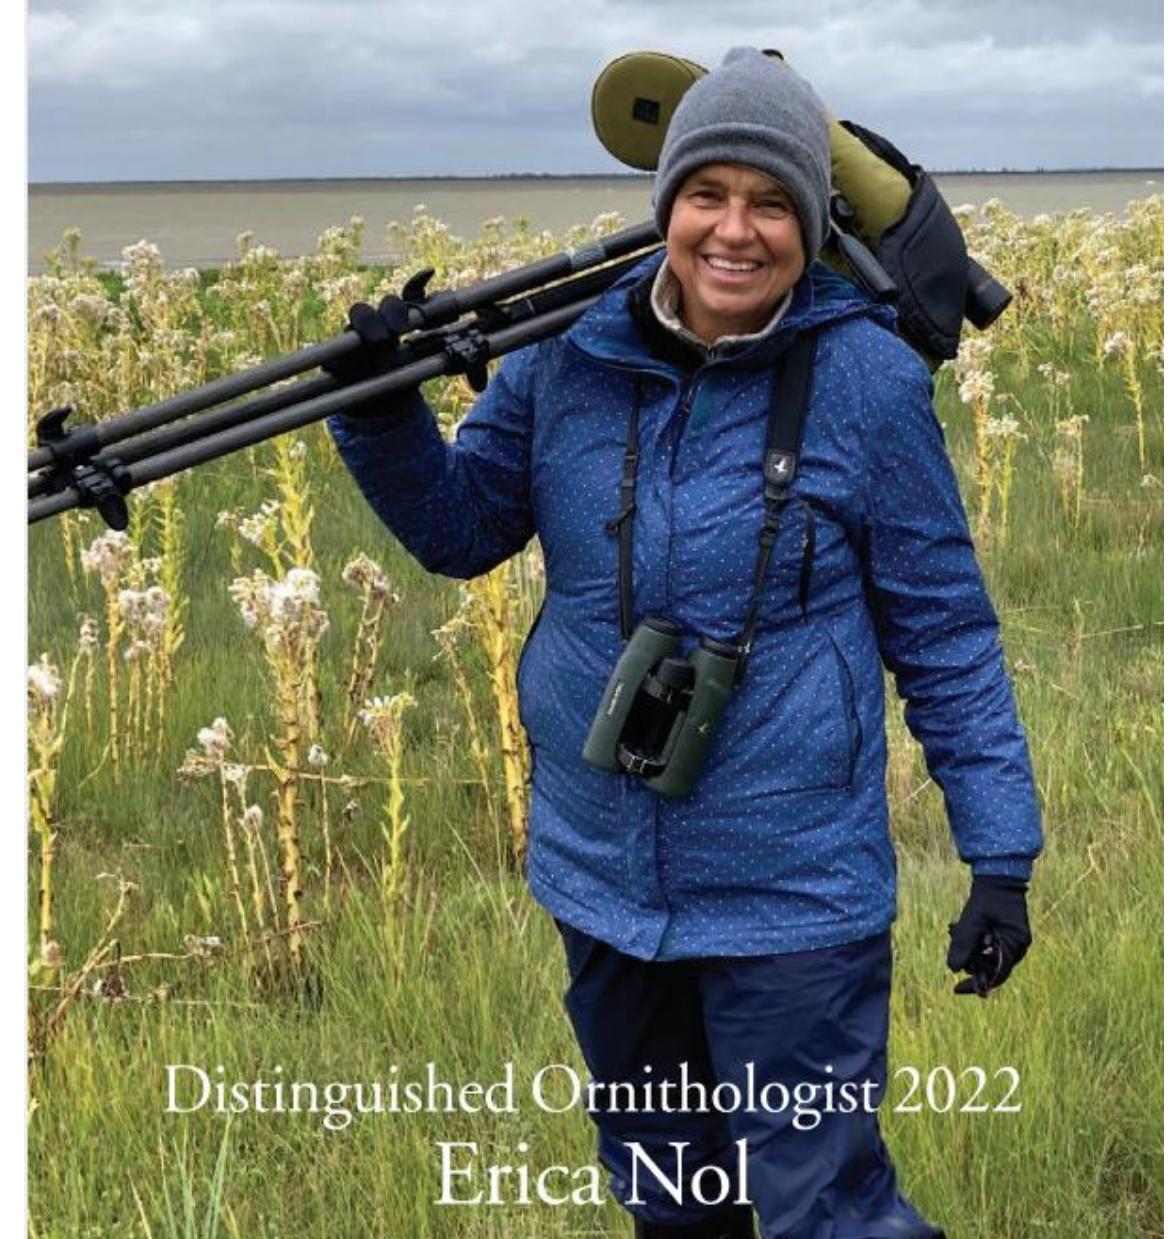

Slide courtesy of Maina Handmaker, University of Massachusetts

Andy Johnson / Cornell Lab of Ornithology

Distinguished Ornithologist 2022
Erica Nol

Canada: Northern Neighbor (2nd Edition)

Map of Churchill, Manitoba Credit: Melissa Weber

www.artanddesigninspiration.com

Anne Ausems

Anne Ausems

Anne Ausems

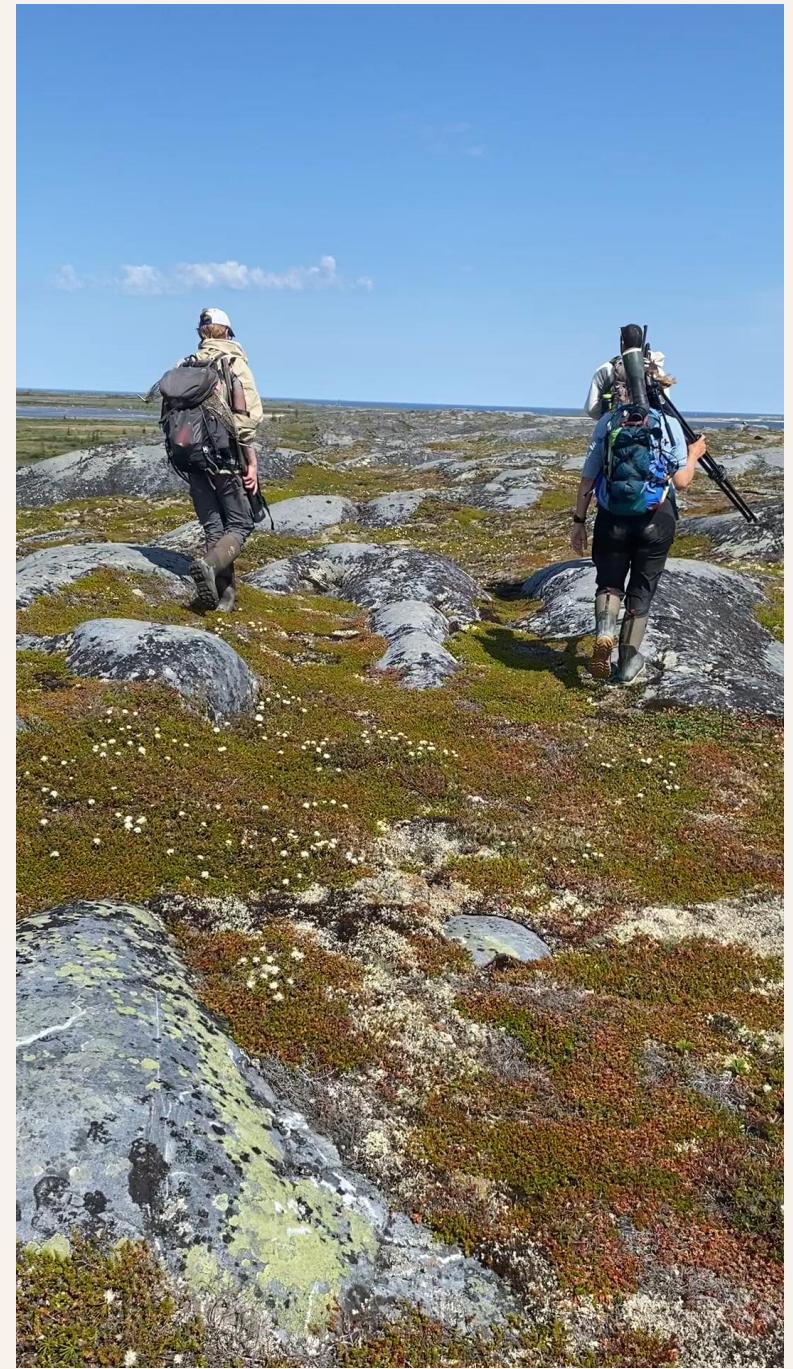

Anne Auséms

Merlin Bird ID

From the Cornell Lab of Ornithology

<http://bit.ly/MerlinApp>

BEST MATCHES

American Robin

White-crowned Sparrow

Lincoln's Sparrow

White-throated Sparrow

Sora

Wilson's Snipe

Merlin Bird ID

From the Cornell Lab of Ornithology

<http://bit.ly/MerlinApp>

BEST MATCHES

White-crowned Sparrow

Common Loon

American Robin

Harris's Sparrow

Lincoln's Sparrow

Herring Gull

